

NATIONAL SKIN DAY 2015

DERMATOLOGICAL problems such as eczema, psoriasis, acne, pigmentation and hair loss are common in our society but getting accurate information on their prevention and treatment can be a challenge. National Skin Day 2015 is the first one-day skin-related programme at national level to raise awareness, create understanding as well as knowledge sharing on common skin diseases with the public.

The event will be held on May 16, from 9.30am onwards at Hospital Serdang. There will be seminars on eczema, psoriasis, acne, skin cancers, pigmentation, hair loss, introduction and safety issues of Botulinum toxins, fillers and lasers.

Children can participate in various activities at the trade booths and colouring contests. There will also be a free skin cancer screening session. Admission is free. Door gifts for first 300 visitors.

A seminar on skin-related problems will touch on the safety issues of Botox toxins.
